

I have worked with Swiftsure for the last 20 months, since joining Tag, and have used them on a number of projects across a number of different sites, both for dilaps and project work, where speed is generally of the essence. I have always been satisfied with their work and the speed by which they can get things completed. Their prices are also very competitive. They have worked with Tag for many years and the fact that they still do so is testimony to their hard work and dedication to their customers.
